Ken Weitzel is an executive advisor to senior IT and business executives, and brings over 30 years of business and technology experience to his clients. Working as a project manager, strategy facilitator, technology expert, and research analyst, he has interacted with business executives of all stripes in every region of the globe. For the past 13 years he has served as an advisor, facilitator, and research manager for CEB, the global business best-practice advisory firm. Prior to his years at CEB, Mr. Weitzel has been a consultant on technology-driven change with Accenture, PepsiCo, Hewlett-Packard, Ernst &

Young LLP, Computer Sciences Corporation, and Scient Corporation. He was the founder and managing director of FutureFoundry LLC, a network-based consulting concern for strategic planning, change management, and executive alignment.

Mr. Weitzel holds an MBA in Information Systems Management from The University of Texas at Austin, and a BA in Liberal Arts from Austin College in Sherman, Texas. He serves as vice chair of the MBA Advisory Board for the McCombs School of Business at UT Austin.

After years in Singapore, Chicago, San Francisco, Brussels, San Jose, and Washington DC, he and his wife Celia returned to Dallas in 2005. Their son Braden is a freshman UGS major at UT, and daughter Lindsay is a sophomore pre-med at Texas A&M.
