What Starts Here Changes the World

The full-time Texas MBA program at the McCombs School of Business is designed to develop influential business leaders and as Dean of the McCombs School of Business, I cannot imagine a more stimulating environment to cultivate that development. This prestigious program will open up a world of opportunities for you – increasing your knowledge of business, building networks that will last a lifetime and developing skills to impact our society.

As a Texas MBA you are continually faced with opportunities to gain real-world experience through innovative programs such as the MBA+ Leadership Program and Global Connections study tours. The diversity of the class supports its global perspective and encourages you to build a network beyond the classroom through student organizations, academic challenges, MBA+ projects, recruiting events and more. It is a community where students lead, challenge and motivate each other, with a spirit of teamwork and collaboration at the core of all we do.

The University of Texas at Austin is one of the foremost research universities in the world, allowing esteemed faculty to share relevant and practical business knowledge with you throughout the course of your academic career. Among the robust resources offered by such a renowned university is the interdisciplinary collaboration between prominent programs outside of McCombs such as the Jackson School of Geosciences, LBJ School of Public Affairs and Cockrell School of Engineering, opening doors for engineers, scientists, environmentalists and business enthusiasts to share and integrate knowledge across boundaries and allowing you to customize your education even further.

As we consider the global mindset of business and economics, and the unique economic challenges our society is facing today, the vitality of the Texas economy puts McCombs in an especially advantageous position. The vibrant business community of Austin - with its constant innovation, entrepreneurial nature, commitment to environmental issues, advances in the tech industry and proximity to a booming energy industry – allows McCombs to connect you with opportunities beyond the bounds of the university.

When I consider all that McCombs has to offer, and our passion to further develop these opportunities, I am proud to be at the heart of a leading institution of business education and to share that experience with you as a Texas MBA. Our goal is to prepare you to address the most pressing issues in our society, as this is where the future of business will have its greatest impact. McCombs is a community where great minds come together to inspire change and make a difference in the world. I invite and encourage you to learn more about our program and our community at http://mba.mccombs.utexas.edu/.

Sincerely,

Thomas Gilligan

Dean of the McCombs School of Business
