PROGRAM OF THE WEEK-END IN NORMANDY

Normandy is a region of rich and fascinating history.

In the of Caen Memorial and on the D-Day beaches, we will follow the soldiers who disembarked on the Normandy beaches on June 6, 1944 to liberate France. Then a change of atmosphere by relaxing on the beach at Deauville, the most glamorous seaside resort of the French coast, symbol of elegance and prestige. Finally, we'll visit Honfleur, a charming Town of Art and History, and birthplace of Impressionist painting.

MEMORIAL-D-Day beaches

The Memorial of Caen:

The Caen Memorial is dedicated to the History and memory of World War II.

This highly educational site makes it possible to better understand various aspects of a conflict whose scope has never been equalled.

Friday

- Meeting at 7:00 AM
- Departure for Caen.
- Visit of the Caen Memorial.
- Picnic together or individual lunch at the cafeteria of the Memorial
- Guided tour of the D-Day beaches and various historic places (American Military Cemetery, Omaha Beach, the Hoc's point, German Military Cemetery...)
- Free time for diner in Caen
- Night at the hotel in Caen

The landing beaches (Omaha Beach, Hoc Point, the German and American cemeteries):

On June 6th, 1944, hundreds of thousands of Allied soldiers, mostly American, land on the beaches of the Normandy region and catch the German troops off guard. Nine months later, France was liberated. A tour filled with emotion on the Normandy Landing's main site: Pointe du Hoc, Omaha Beach, the American and German military cemeteries

HONFLEUR - DEAUVILLE

Honfleur

Seacoast city, starting point of great expeditions to new lands, world birthplace of celebrities; Honfleur left its historical mark throughout the centuries. During the 19th century, Honfleur became an exceptional center of art: Eugène Boudin, whose influence was capital to the Impressionist movement, gathered around himself many of his artist acquaintances such as Monet and the poet Charles Baudelaire.

Without a doubt one of the most glamorous seaside stations of the French coasts! With its casino, its boutiques and its beaches of fine sand, Deauville invites to relaxation....

Saturday

- Breakfast at the hotel
- Departure for Honfleur
- Free time to walk around and visit various monuments (Saint Catherine church, the old harbour, Satie's house, museum of the navy, Eugène Boudin museum...)
- Free time for lunch
- Departure for Deauville
- Free afternoon to visit

 Deauville and to enjoy the beach
- Departure for Paris and arrival expected around 9:00 PM
