

Kyle Hranicky
Chief Executive Officer of Commercial Banking
Wells Fargo
Houston, TX

Kyle Hranicky is the Chief Executive Office of Commercial Banking. He was formerly the executive vice president and head of Wells Fargo Middle Market Banking. He is also a member of the Wells Fargo Management Committee.

Kyle also served as the executive vice president and head of Wells Fargo's Corporate Banking group where he led the transformation to industry-specialized relationship businesses and managed Wells Fargo Strategic Capital, a specialized capital provider. He also partnered with other Wells Fargo executives to align Wells Fargo's corporate banking and securities businesses to form Corporate and Investment Banking to serve the needs of corporate and institutional clients in a more integrated and simplified way.

Prior to that, Kyle served as the executive vice president and head of the Wells Fargo Energy Group. Under his leadership, the team established a top-tier position in the Energy industry. In addition, he served as senior vice president and regional manager of the Loan Syndication group, part of Wells Fargo Capital Markets.

Since 1995, he has served in leadership roles with Wells Fargo including Commercial Banking relationship manager and loan team manager. Before Wells Fargo, he worked for the Southland Corporation.

Kyle earned his B.A. in business administration from The University of Texas at Austin, and his M.B.A. with honors from the Thunderbird School of Global Management in Glendale, Arizona.

He lives in Houston with his wife and their three children.