

David Bader
President
Bank of America
Austin, TX

David Bader is president of Bank of America Austin. David is responsible for connecting the banking and investment resources offered through our eight lines of business to companies, families and individuals in Austin. He also leads the effort across the market to deploy Bank of America's resources to address social and economic concerns and build strong communities.

In addition to being president of Austin, David is the Private Bank market executive for Central Texas. David directs the efforts of Private Client Advisors, Associates, and Specialists from Austin to San Antonio, ensuring they have the tools, technologies, and resources to address the most sophisticated client needs. He oversees the delivery of tailored initiatives in investment management, trust and estate planning services, customized credit, specialty asset management, family office services, and philanthropy.

David began his career as a Financial Advisor with Merrill Lynch and, with Bank of America has steadily taken on additional leadership responsibilities. Prior to his current role, he served as the Consumer Banking and Merrill Edge Region Executive for South Central Texas, where he directed the banking, credit, and investment activities of more than 600 Associates across 82 financial centers.

Previously, he served as the Preferred Banking and Merrill Edge Regional Sales Manager for Illinois and Michigan. His leadership in Texas began in 2009, when he served as the Capitol Complex Sales Manager with Merrill Lynch in Austin. Two years later, he was named Regional Sales Manager for Austin, San Antonio, and Houston.

David currently serves on the board of Any Baby Can of Austin. He is also executive sponsor for LGBT Pride and Bank of America Community Volunteers.

Prior to joining King Street in 2024, Jeff served as President of NextEra Energy Investments, the direct investment arm of one of the largest utility and energy infrastructure firms in the U.S. Before joining NextEra, he worked at Elliott Investment Management where he was a Senior Portfolio Manager and served on their global investment committee. Prior to Elliott, he was a Managing Director at York Capital Management and held various roles at The D. E. Shaw Group and Blackstone earlier in his career.