Recruit International Students

International students representing over 17 countries comprise approximately 25% of our typical incoming MBA class. McCombs international students have an average of 5–7 years of professional experience in core business functions and are graduates of top schools in their respective countries. These students bring diverse language skills and valuable knowledge of global business environments.

Hiring international students with F-1 immigration status for U.S.-based summer internships is facilitated by the university through Curricular Practical Training (CPT) work authorization and the employer bears no obligation of sponsorship or cost. Upon graduation, F-1 international students are eligible to apply for up to 12 months of Optional Practical Training (OPT) work authorization prior to requiring sponsorship for an employment-based immigration status. The University assists F-1 international students with OPT application preparation prior to graduation, which is then filed with the U.S. Citizenship & Immigration Services (USCIS) for processing. The employer bears no obligation of sponsorship or cost for OPT.

For F-1 students who hold a previous U.S. degree in the STEM fields, they might qualify for an additional 24 months of extended STEM OPT work authorization as long as their employment role is at least 50% related to their STEM degree.
