Course Description

The Real Estate Investment Fund class is a two semester course, and this course is the second half of the class. The first half of the course focused on investment theory, portfolio theory, REIT analysis and economics. Student groups analyzed pairs of highly-correlated REITs and traded into over- under- positions relative to the benchmark based on their view of the expected relative performance of their REIT pair. In this second half of the course student managers will concentrate their efforts more on the private equity deals, while also analyzing a pair of REITs in the same property sector as the PE deal they are analyzing.

This semester we have four private equity deals we are going to analyze, write an investment memo, and make a presentation to our fund investment committee with our decision regarding investment. Fund faculty managers put out a call for student-fund investments this summer and received interest from four sponsors, all with some form of multifamily projects here in Texas. The fund's goal is to invest between $100,000 – $250,000 in one or two of the deals we are analyzing this semester.

Our PE deals for the Fall 2018 semester are:

1. Park at Tour 18 – North-Houston (Humble) MF development; deal sponsor and class contact - Martin Brontstein, BHW Capital, Houston
2. Austin MF development – details TBD; deal sponsor and class contact - Jay Fuqua, Trinity Capital, Dallas
3. Austin MF value-add – details TBD; deal sponsor and class contact – Vivek Shah, Nitya Capital, Houston
4. Daymark Living – Waxahachie MF development for semi-independent living; deal sponsor and class contact – Murray McCabe, Montgomery Street Partners, Dallas
