

Christopher Starr
Director
Piper Sandler
Houston, TX

Chris Starr is a director in the Energy and Power investment banking group at Piper Sandler where he advises energy infrastructure clients in a wide variety of transactions including mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, and capital raises. Prior to Piper Sandler he received his MBA in 2016 from the McCombs School of Business at The University of Texas, where he acted as a portfolio manager on the MBA Investment Fund. He also received joint BBA and MPA degrees from McCombs in 2011. Chris and his wife Katy reside in Houston with their young son David. In his free time, Chris enjoys cheering on the Longhorns in all sports, golf, travel and spending time with family and friends.