

Adam Blum
Managing Member
ACB Holdings, LP
Austin, TX

Adam Blum manages a portfolio of investments in real estate, oil and gas, public securities, private loans, and interests in private companies. He began his principal investing career at Austin Ventures, a $4 billion private investment firm. Prior to Austin Ventures, he worked from 2006 to 2008 in New York City as an investment banker at Goldman, Sachs & Co.

In addition to the McCombs School of Business Advisory Council, Mr. Blum serves on the UT System Chancellor's Council Executive Committee, the University Development Board for UT-Austin, and the Longhorn Foundation Advisory Council, and he is a past member of the McCombs Alumni Board. Mr. Blum founded the Dell Med Society for Health & Business, the first leadership board for community supporters of the Dell Medical School. He is a Term Member of the Council on Foreign Relations and a member of Business Executives for National Security, a nonpartisan nonprofit focused on addressing the national security community's most pressing challenges. Mr. Blum is a board member of the Greater Austin Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame. Mr. Blum is a graduate of Leadership Austin's Emerge Program. He is the Chair of the American Enterprise Institute's Enterprise Club group in Texas and serves on the Enterprise Club's National Board. Mr. Blum is a member of The Fifty, a board affiliated with the Seton family of hospitals. Mr. Blum graduated first in his class at The University of Texas at Austin and received a joint MPA/BBA with Highest Honors (2006) from the Master in Accounting Program and a BBA with Highest Honors (2006) from the Business Honors Program.